

RSPB Bempton Cliffs Site Guide - Accessible Tours

Located on the spectacular Yorkshire coast lies the majestic Bempton Cliffs. Impressive at any time of the year, it's home to one of the UK's top wildlife spectacles. Around half a million seabirds gather here between March and October to raise a family, creating England's largest seabird city.

Clinging to tiny ledges on a towering, chalk cliff-face metres away from the North Sea, you'll find Gannets, Kittiwakes, Razorbills and Guillemots nesting. Meanwhile Puffins find shelter in burrows, nooks and crannies to raise their young. The sights, sounds, smells and views are simply unforgettable.

But it's not all about the cliffs. In spring and summer Corn Buntings, Skylarks and Linnets breed in the grassland and scrub where land meets the sea, while Short-eared Owl's hunt under wide open skies in winter.

What Can You See?

Spring

Breeding seabirds start to return, including Northern Gannets, Atlantic Puffins, Guillemots, Razorbills, Northern Fulmars, Black-legged Kittiwakes, Herring Gulls and European Shags. Farmland birds such as Eurasian Skylarks, European Tree Sparrows, Common Linnets, Meadow Pipits, Reed Buntings and Corn Buntings can be seen. Meanwhile Western Barn Owls are often spotted and early morning visits may provide sightings of Roe Deer. On calmer days, it's not unusual to spot Harbour Porpoises out to sea. Look out for displays of beautiful Red Champion along track sides too.

Summer

The seabird breeding season is in full swing as nearly half a million seabirds cling to the cliffs. Breeding Tree Sparrows, Common Whitethroats, Corn Buntings, Eurasian Skylarks, Common Linnets, Reed Buntings, Rock Pipits and Meadow Pipits are often viewed at Bempton too. A range of the more common butterflies may be seen on sunny days, along with day-flying moths such as Cinnabars, Burnet Moths and occasionally Hummingbird Hawkmoths.

Autumn

In the Autumn, most of the seabirds have gone, but the Gannets are here into October. The autumnal migration gets underway and can be very exciting at Bempton Cliffs owing to its coastal location. Short-eared Owls begin to arrive to stay for the winter and there's the arrival of migrants such as Willow Warblers, Chiffchaffs, Whitethroats, Lesser Whitethroats, Reed Warblers, Sedge Warblers, Goldcrests, European Stonechats, Whinchats, Northern Wheatears and Common Redstarts.

Winter

Winter is usually a quieter time of year, but a small number of Short-eared Owls and Barn Owls can usually be seen. The wildlife garden at the RSPB reserve offers food and shelter to a range of more common garden birds, as well as well as a colony of rare Tree Sparrows.
