The Humber estuary is teeming with hundreds of thousands of wading birds from Knot to Bar-tailed Godwit this is a great place to learn about how to identify and photograph these beautiful birds. Highfield Farm is ideally placed as a base to explore great winter sites such as Top Hill Low and Hornsea Mere which is Yorkshires largest freshwater lake and is one of the best places in our county for winter wildfowl from Slavonian Grebe to Goldeneye. White-winged Gulls are also often seen on the coast with Iceland Gull and Glaucous Gull regularly found. On the northern coasts there are great sites for Purple Sandpiper and Mediterranean Gull. Nearby in Scarborough Harbour waterbirds such as Red-throated Diver, Great Northern Diver, Black-throated Diver and Little Auks often shelter from the rough sea. This is also a great area for Kingfishers in the winter. Surprises often turn up; in 2015 up to 6 Black-necked Grebes were found and at Scalby Mills an American Wigeon. We will also be seeking out any Waxwings in the area during the time of the tour; these birds can provide fantastic photographic opportunities.

Client Reviews from 2016

“The course earlier this month was splendid; the easy style which you and Steve have helps that a lot. Without wishing to overload you with compliments, you combine an encyclopaedic knowledge of birds with being a great teacher and communicator. It was a pleasure to be part of this course from first to last”.

“The accommodation and food at Highfield was once again top notch, nothing seems too much trouble for them. Please pass on our thanks to them”

Richard Baines and Steve Race (see our web site yorkshirecoastnature.co.uk for profiles) will be leading this tour.
